Saturday, 18th May, 1816.

The Bombay Anna, we are happy to say, arrived this morning. She spoke at sea, on the 11th of March, the Swallow, Captain Wilson who left England on the 8th of February.

Having been most kindly favored with the following extract from the Observer we lose not an instant in publishing it.

Extract from the Observer of February the 4th.

Yesterday Mr. Harrower underwent a final examination at Bow-street Office, being charged with having intermarried with Suzannah Giblet, daughter of a Butcher, well knowing that Mary Usher to whom he was married in Bombay in the year 1794 was still living. The Magistrates were R. Birney and E. Sketchley, and so great was the interest excited, that at an early hour the Office was crowded to an excess by persons of the greatest respectability. Captain H. having been put to the Bar, Mr. Adolphus Counsel for the prosecution called the Reverend Arnold Burrows as a witness; he having mentioned that he had married the above, after adjusting his spectacles and going close to the Bar, declared him to be the same man. Paul Shewcraft of Fitzroy-street Fitzroy-square was in Bombay in the year 1794, the defendant and Miss Usher lived together as man and wife: Here the case for the prosecution closed, and the defendant being called upon for his defence, addressed the Magistrates at considerable length, in the course of which he observed, that the prosecution was instituted by Mr. Giblet from malicious motives, arising from his having repeatedly applied to him for a debt, amounting to £17,000. He then paid the highest tributes of eulogium to Miss G. who he said was a most virtuous and loving Wife; in the year 1810 he was introduced to the family, and from that time Mr. Giblet had borrowed from him at different times £10,000, £2,000, £3,000, and £1,270, and said it would be all paid by instalments in 7 months. In November 1814 the Prisoner told him he must have some security for his Money; after that, he came to the Prisoner's Country House and took away 20 Sheep without paying for them. Prisoner detailed a series of injuries which he said he had received at the hands of Mr. G. and declared that it was a planned thing to deprive him of the sums of Money that he had advanced; nothing better than a conspiracy. Mr. Alley then addressed the following questions to Miss G. whom Captain H. had married,—Is it with your (consent) approbation that this prosecution is instituted? Answer.—No, Sir, I am against it. Mr. Adolphus said, her Father had taken upon himself to prosecute, and would be in Court to answer any questions put to him on the trial. Mr. Alley then took a legal objection upon the authority of the 1st of James chap. 11; much warmth of argument ensued and the objection was then finally overruled. Captain H. was fully committed to Newgate for Trial. On hearing this, Miss G. fainted, and on recovering begg'd she might be permitted to accompany him; she cried vehemently and it was with difficulty she could be removed from the Office after the Captain was lock'd up. The prisoner is about 50 and of very prepossessing manners.

Parliament met on the 1st of February and the Prince's speech was delivered per proxy.

Sir Robert Wilson, Captain Hutchison and Mr. Bruce had been liberated on Bail, and were then at large.

Lavalette it is asserted had sought refuge in England and not in Bavaria as report stated.

The Duke of Wellington had not taken his departure for the Cantonments of the Allied Army.
